

FACADE AND GLASS CLEANING

Today the buildings in cities are made up of glass throughout. Therefore, the surface area of glass that is exposed to wind, rain, sun, light, birds etc. is enormous. There needs to be some kind of maintenance that is required to keep these huge glass structures clean and shining forever. You cannot expect the individual offices to keep their premises, viz. the windows outside their offices clean. There is perhaps one way to ensure that these glass buildings are clean from top to bottom.
